

Intervention Idea: Maintain a Home-School Connection

Contributed by: Gail M. Van Tatenhove, SLP, CCC-SLP, United States

Families, teachers, and therapists are all vital parts of the intervention team for the child or adult learning a Minspeak® system. It is critical that each person in the team works together, sharing the responsibilities and fun of teaching a Minspeak® system.

- Meet as a team to outline an intervention plan that is in keeping with the child's IEP or the adult's Plan of Care.
- School personnel and/or private therapists and teachers should support the family and encourage them to engage in natural routines that builds communication and Minspeak® learning.
 - Review the suggested Parent Tips & Tricks and Lesson Plans.
 - Discuss with the family a strategy for helping them build Minspeak® learning into their natural routines.
